

A black and white line drawing of a forest scene. In the foreground, there are several small flowers with five petals and some grass. A stream flows through the middle ground, with a fallen log partially submerged. The background is filled with tall trees and dense foliage. The text is overlaid in the center of the image.

Many bulls have compassed
me; Strong bulls of Bashan
have beset me round.