

A detailed black and white line drawing of a forest landscape. In the foreground, a stream flows from the background towards the viewer, its surface marked with gentle ripples. Several large, angular rocks are scattered along the stream's edge and in the water. The middle ground is filled with a variety of trees, including tall, slender deciduous trees with sparse foliage and smaller, denser evergreens. The background shows a continuation of the forest, with more trees and a soft, hazy atmosphere. The overall style is that of a traditional woodcut or a detailed pencil sketch.

Jehovah, I love the habitation of thy house,
And the place where thy glory dwelleth.