

A black and white line drawing of a forest scene. In the foreground, a stream flows over several large, smooth rocks. The water is depicted with simple horizontal lines. The banks of the stream are covered with various types of vegetation, including tall grasses and small shrubs. In the background, a dense forest of tall, slender trees with full, rounded canopies rises up. The overall style is that of a traditional woodcut or a detailed pencil sketch. The text is overlaid on the upper half of the image, following the contours of the trees and the stream.

For in the day of trouble he will keep me secretly in his pavilion: In the covert of his tabernacle will he hide me;
He will lift me up upon a rock.